

ACF Chapter President – As you likely know, the ACF Certification Commission, with the support of the ACF Board of Directors, is offering a limited time reinstatement period for any certified chef whose certification expired after January 1, 2003. In addition to all eligible chefs receiving a personal letter about the program, the program has been announced at the four regional conferences and detailed on the home page of the ACF web site.

As a reminder, this one-time certification reinstatement program is only available until June 11, 2010. Please feel free to share this information with your chapter members or anyone you feel may be interested and meets the eligibility requirements. Complete information about the program can be found on the Recertification page on the ACF web site.
